

Major General Marvin H. Knoll

(Camp Davis Anti-Aircraft Artillery OCS Class 57-43)

Major General Marvin H. Knoll graduated from the Anti-Aircraft Artillery Officer Candidate School Class 57-43 at Camp Davis North Carolina in May 1943.

During his career, he held numerous Field Artillery and Anti-Aircraft commands, to include command of 454th Anti-Aircraft Battalion. After command he held numerous positions in the 102nd Army Reserve Command, serving as Chief of Staff and later becoming the Commanding General from 1975 to 1979. Before assuming command of the 102nd ARCOM, General Knoll went on active duty as a general officer in 1965 serving as Chief of Army Personnel Operations and later Deputy Commander of the Military Personnel Center in Washington, D.C.

His decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit and the Meritorious Service Medal.